It is time for everyone to know
That the sweet and the sour are bountiful
It comes from a land out far where distant meadows grow
Come see
Come see
All must have a need to know
That a new jungle is forming
It causes havoc out far and where ever you go

Where ever you go you will see it
See it teeming with life
On a need to know
A basis that life is essential
And it grows and it grows
Past the ever weary signs
Past the forest no one ever goes

So here it is
Here is all
An announcement
One needs to know
Now what is the announcement?
Whatever it may be
It is an announcement all the same
So quiet down so all can hear
Announcing the announcement
Announcing to all
That I write this poetry for all
For none or less
I write, I scroll!
